MEET ME AT MIDNIGHT

Coconut Oil Washed Gin, Almond Blossom Tea, Mango & Passionfruit Cordial, Prosecco, Atomised
Absinthe*

The very beginning of the infamous Starry Night collection. The vibrant colors and intricate details make you wonder. As you gaze at the painting you might find yourself counting the number of people on the terrace trying to decipher hidden meanings like the allusion to Da Vinci's Last Supper. Is that a cross on the window and is Judas really departing on the left? The mysteries within this masterpiece will keep you intrigued and coming back for more.

The Last Sipper

Croissant Vodka*, Creme de Cacao, Hazelnut,
Spiced Maple Syrup, Tonka Whipped Espresso

Talking of Da Vinci's "The Last Supper," this mysterious masterpiece conveys an array of secrets and hidden messages that continue to captivate those looking beyond what meets the eye. Giovanni Maria Pala claims to have found clues leading to a 40-second musical composition – with each loaf of bread on the table representing a note of a requiem. We'll cheers to that! Leonardo Da Vinci was born in Italy and died in France, so we're paying homage by combining flavours from the two wonderful countries together.

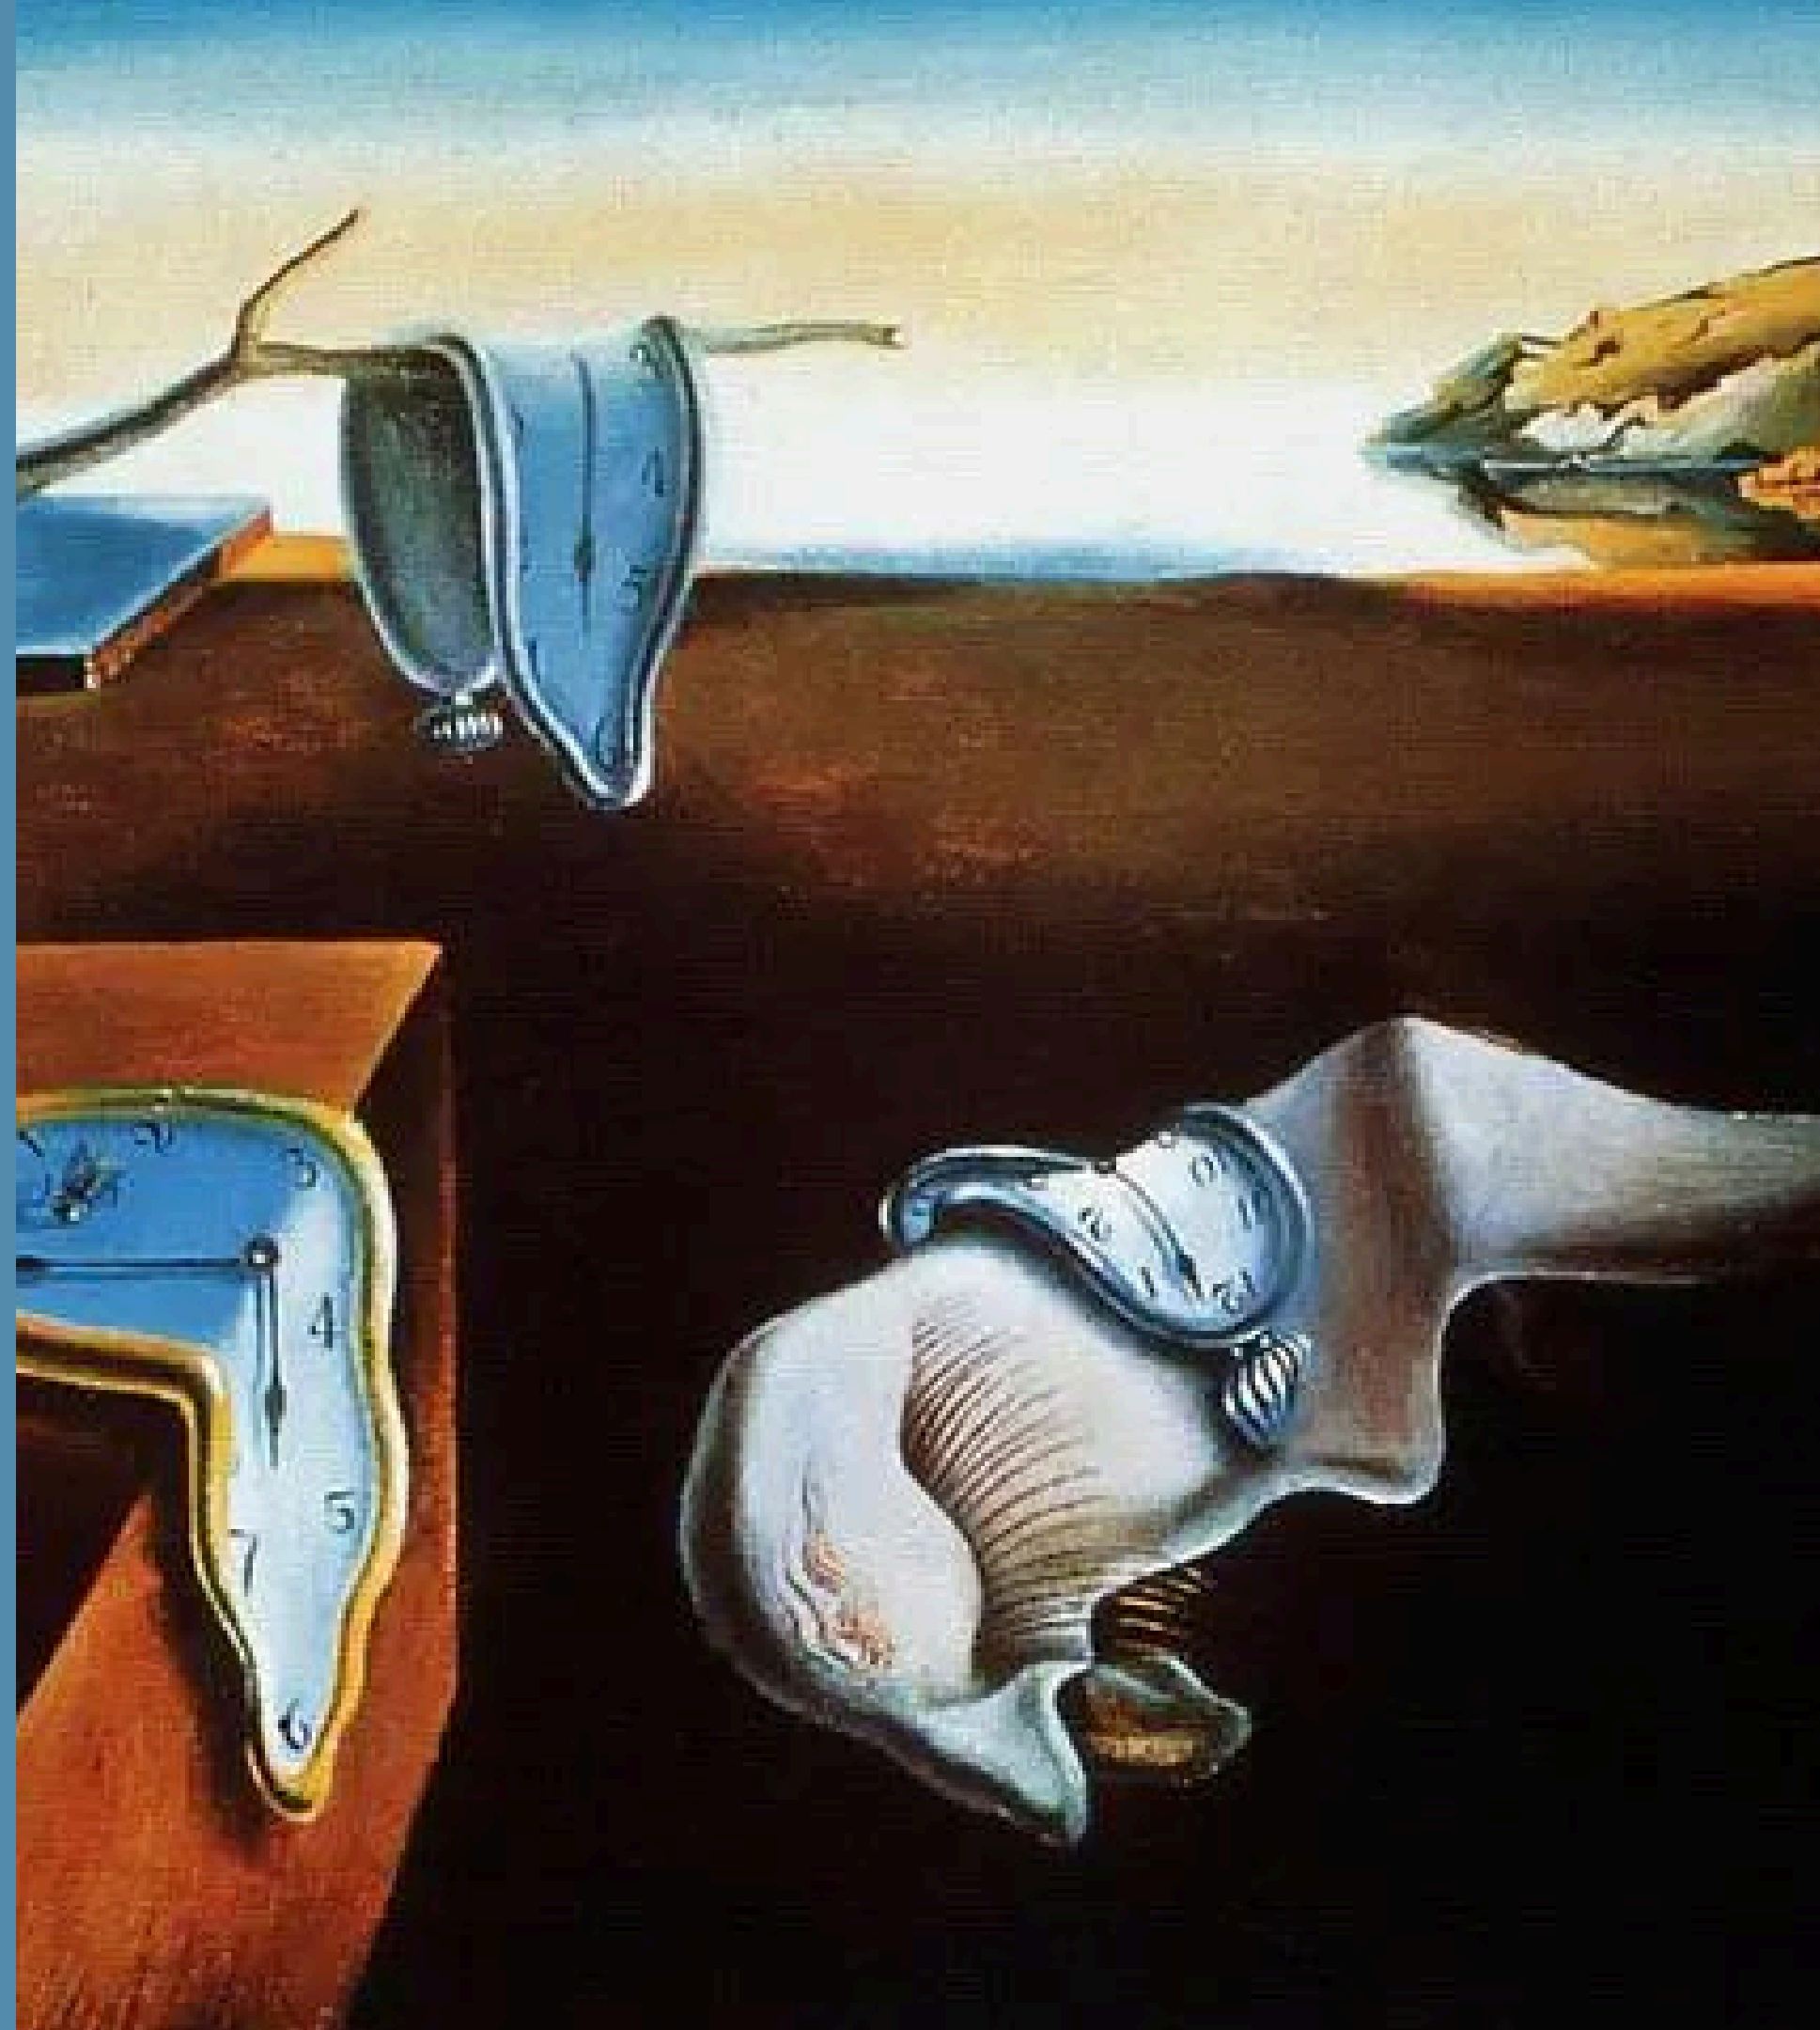

Paint The Town Red
Blood Orange Gin, Lemon,
Wildflower Honey Syrup, Spent
Red Wine, Blackberry Liqueur

Caravaggio's Bacchus, a portrait of the Greek god of wine. Look a little closer, can you see the small reflection of Caravaggio in the carafe? It's almost the same as when you open the fridge and look at that bottle of wine calling your name. And whilst we're on the subject of wine and Caravaggio, let's paint the town red!

Salvatore

*Vodka, Peach Liqueur, Almond Syrup,
Lemon, Sparkling Cherry, Soft Ice Cream*

Salvador Dali, the eccentric Spanish surrealist, often faced criticism for his bizarre creations. His iconic piece, The Persistence of Memory, emerged at the peak of the Surrealist movement, a time when Dali was deeply engaged with fellow artists and had honed his unique "paranoiac-critical method" for artistic expression. He thrived on painting while navigating the realms of paranoia and heightened awareness, reminiscent of those vivid dreams that surface when you hit the snooze button. The layers of meaning in this artwork are profound, and if you look closely, you might spot the strangely drooping face – yes, that's actually a self-portrait of Dali himself!

Figgie Smalls

London Dry Gin, Italicus, Fig, Raspberry
& Vanilla Cordial, Sparkling Apple

Michelangelo, one of history's greatest artists and sculptors, cleverly concealed mysteries within his masterpieces. From the donkey ears in The Last Judgement to the subtle depiction of a brain in The Creation of Adam, his work is rich with symbolism. Notably, hidden within the Sistine Chapel is Prophet Zechariah receiving 'the fig' (aka the bird in olden days) behind his head from one of the angels.

Mother of The House

*Spiced Rum, Coconut Rum, Lime,
Strawberry, Dragonfruit & Kiwi Cordial,
Burlesque Bitters, Midori Air*

The allure of extraterrestrials and UFOs has captivated minds for centuries, with whispers of their existence echoing even in the art of the 1400s.
